- Dan Stec recommended the woodworking show to be held this weekend (7/14,15,16) in Northville, sponsored by N'ville Rotary.
- Peter Parker described missing bulletin-board material, thanking Gini Whetten for her help in finding it.

CLUB ASSEMBLY – JON COSTOLO

President Jon led the club through a presentation and discussion of his goals and expectations for the new Rotary year.

- Membership needs to be increased. He suggested that each member invite one friend as guest during the year with the expectation that about half will join.
- Work with the Interact Club to strengthen the relationship.
- Bring Bylaws and Committees into agreement with each other and Rotary recommendations. See that Committees actually meet. Dan Stec remarked that RI requirements have been relaxed giving more autonomy to the individual clubs
- The 2017-2018 budget is in preparation and will be presented at the next meeting.
- The club need to learn more about how the money we contribute to the community is actually spent, and how spending is controlled.
- New Members need a firm “onboarding” process following recruiting and need to be given meaningful assignments and guidance by experienced members. Mentoring system.
- New Members should be good citizens and active in the community, with no rigid requirements beyond that.
- Several members recommended reintroducing the Four Way Test into the opening of meetings. It had been regularly recited in the past. The text of the test is available embossed on a commemorative coin. Perhaps they should be distributed to both old and new members, Serve with us. The world is waiting.
