Serve With Us the World Is Waiting

Ballston Public Library Colleen Smith

Colleen provide us a very interesting presentation which covered the ever- evolving role of a modern library in our community and by doing we learned about what Ballston Public Library has for resources, and the programs and services it provides.

Our library's collections continually expand and include print, audio and video assets. There is a constant analysis of community preferences, and all acquired loaner items are tailored to meet those tastes. Ballston Library is also connected to the regional system so it is capable of getting items not in its inventory. The library also has an area for displaying community generated art.

The library has become a technology hub by providing WiFi, car DVD listening devices (Playways), public computers and all the assistance and support needed.

Ballston also provides space for quiet individual reading and reflection, meetings, both informal and formal, and an extensive program of educational and recreational offerings for all ages and interests.

The library leadership realizes its mission (to provide equitable access for knowledge and information, technology, recreation, education, meeting space, and art) and understands it both serves the community, as well as needing the community for support. It seeks ways to expand its users, collaborate with community organizations and be constantly sensitive and flexible in order to best serve its clients and stakeholders. The Ballston Public Library is a community jewel, and we can be proud that our club was instrumental in helping it start.

Collene and Beth – "Thank you."
